Globally it is viewed that Bangladesh as a production hub has hardly been tapped due to internal issues such as shifting the industry to Savar and ETP related issues. With the shift now complete and ETP issues to be resolved soon, it is a "Production Hub to Watch Out" in the world.

Bangladesh has a robust and well entrenched domestic market for Leather and Non-Leather Footwear and goods with many local brands leading the market share. Entry of Bangladesh into the Middle Income Group will fuel further growth with added disposable income amongst the local populace. Well established production culture adds to the scale.

In this background LEATHERTECH Bangladesh for the past 8 years has been acting as a platform to source machinery, materials and components by bringing leading international suppliers from more than 15 countries under-one-roof thus becoming the "Leather Industry Networking Forum"
